HCCC Human Services Presents

The Bhumi Project: Living the Change: Adopting a diet of devotion

For Hindus, caring for the environment is of central importance. We are taught to not harm other living beings and the earth (ahimsa), lead lives of goodness (sattva), and uphold the natural order of the world (dharma).

As people the world over strive to be more sustainable in their actions, there is much Hindu teachings can contribute to new ways of living.

Join us for a special presentation on Hindu approaches to environmental care, featuring a keynote address by Dr. Sailesh Rao, Executive Producer of the documentary movies Cowspiracy and What the Health.

Event will be followed by a vegan lunch.
